Peer Interview Guide

The Panel Interview

To reduce rater bias and maximize the reliability of results, the interview team should ideally consist of between three and five individuals. Using at least three interviewers maximizes the reliability of the process and ensures a balanced perspective. Interviewers should be knowledgeable concerning the target position and bring different points of view to the interview process. Ideally, varying perspectives should reflect differences in age, gender, and race. Not only will this help protect against interviewer errors and bias, it will be seen as a fair and objective process by applicants.

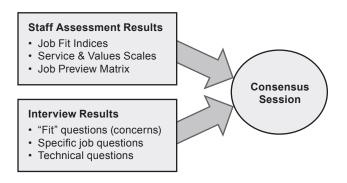

The use of multiple interviewers can be accomplished sequentially or in a panel setting. Sequential interviews occur when the applicant is literally "passed" from one interviewer to another throughout the day and then each interviewer provides their own judgments concerning the applicant. This approach has the advantage of allowing each interviewer to pursue their line of questioning. The disadvantages are:

- · Lack of control over what each interviewer asks
- Lack of interview structure
- · Difficulty associated with coordinating the content addressed by each interviewer

Panel interviews are the preferred method in most instances because they ensure consistency (i.e. structure) and allow the organization to better control the interview process. The only downside to panel interview is, they may be viewed as a bit overwhelming by the applicant. This concern can easily be addressed by establishing a neutral setting for the interview session (e.g. sitting around a conference table or using circular seating without a table between the interviewers and applicant).

Consensus Session

The purpose of the consensus session is to meet as a group and make final evaluations. These evaluations are accomplished by pooling and discussing observations made during the interviews. Agreement is reached on the strengths and weaknesses of the applicant, and a final judgment (i.e., Overall Recommendation) is made. Consensus differs from a simple summing-up of scores in that a general agreement for the final evaluation is reached through group discussions on the various Staff Assessment and interview information collected.

Peer Interview Guide

Obviously, individuals involved in the consensus session must synthesize a great deal of information about the applicant. Ideally, each interviewer/evaluator comes to the consensus session with their individual ratings of applicants completed using the Applicant Summary Score Sheet. The task of the group is to systematically arrive at a consensus rating on each of the different areas as well as to agree on a final overall evaluation.

The major strength of a consensus session is that interviewers are forced to reconcile differences and to justify their evaluations using specific Staff Assessment and interview information rather than resorting to making decisions based on their "warm and fuzzy" feelings about the applicant. Thus, the key to an effective consensus session is the documentation (test scores and interview notes) that the interviewer brings to the meeting.

Ideally, the consensus session should be held after all of the applicants have been tested and interviewed. However, this should only occur if all of the prospective applicants are interviewed within a reasonable time period (one week, with a maximum of two weeks). Greater time periods will necessitate meetings following each applicant's interview. The last page of the Staff Assessment feedback report provides an Applicant Summary Score Sheet.

STRUCTURED INTERVIEW GUIDE - TECHNICAL/PROFESSIONAL - OPTIONAL GUIDE

Staff Assessment Structured Selection Process - AN OVERVIEW
STEP 1. JOB FIT INDICES	STEP 2. JOB PREVIEW MATRIX	STEP 3. SERVICE AND VALUES SCALES	STEP 4. STRUCTURED INTERVIEW	STEP 5. SUMMARY EVALUATION
Check for "caution" scores on page 1.	Probe "reluctant" and/or "refusal" responses on page 2.	Use custom written questions to probe "low scores" in greater detail (when applicable) page 4.	Use this guide to conduct a structured, behavioral-based interview.	Use this matrix to compile the information for your final decision (last page of report).

STRUCTURED INTERVIEW

The structured interview guide utilizes behavioral-based interview questions to assess previous job behaviors/performance. Research demonstrates past performance is an excellent predictor of future, on-the-job performance. Each question is likely to take five minutes. Give the applicant plenty of time to recall specific situations. Use the "probes" to clarify and pursue specific details.

Preparation (Before the Candidate Arrives)
<ul> <li>☐ Coordinate time, place and roles with interviewers</li> <li>☐ Prepare the interview room and prevent interruptions (e.g. phone calls)</li> <li>☐ Review the candidate's resume/application</li> <li>☐ Review the Staff Assessment Feedback Report &amp; review the custom and structured questions</li> </ul>
Opening the Interview Session
<ul> <li>☐ Greet the candidate - try to put them at ease</li> <li>☐ Introduce the interviewer(s) along with their position in the organization</li> <li>☐ Explain the purpose of the interview</li> <li>• To gather information to enable the organization to make a fair decision</li> <li>• To help the candidate understand the organization and the position</li> <li>☐ Inform the candidate you'll be taking notes</li> </ul>

SAMPLE INTRODUCTORY OPENING

"I am going to ask you a number of questions. Some questions may ask you to tell about an actual experience you've had. Others may ask you about your education or some specific skill or knowledge. The purpose of the interview is to gather information and assist in making a fair decision. We also want to help you better understand our organization and this position. I'll be taking notes during our interview. Do you have any questions before we get started?"

Conducting the Body of the Interview

	Stick to the structured format provided
	Read the questions provided (do not paraphrase)
	Use probes to ensure complete understanding of the response
	Remember to take notes
	Provide the candidate with a realistic preview of the job requirements & your selection process
Following t	the Interview
	Review and complete notes
	Evaluate the candidate on factors and fit
	Reach consensus with other interviewers and make final decision

TIPS FOR CLOSING THE INTERVIEW SESSION:

- Start by determining the applicant's interest in further discussion and consideration (don't assume continued interest).
- Clearly communicate the remaining steps in the selection process (e.g., reference check, subsequent interviews, decision time-line, who will contact him/her and in what time period).
- Generally speaking, it is not a good idea to make any specific promises of employment at this time.
- End the session on a positive note, stand and shake hands, and sincerely thank the applicant for his/her interest and cooperation.
- If the process takes longer than what was communicated, contact the applicant and inform him/her of the status.
- Always remember that the applicant is a guest at your organization and should be treated accordingly.

Example dialogue:

"Well Cheryl, that concludes the interview session. Our discussion has been very enlightening and I've appreciated your honesty and cooperation. We still have additional applicants who will be interviewed for the position, but we hope to complete those sessions and make a decision within two weeks. Are you still interested in pursuing employment with us? (Response) That's great, either I or someone from our Human Resources Department will call you at that time regarding our decision. Thank you for your interest in working at our organization."

INTERVIEWER'S TOOLKIT

The Toolkit has proven to be a valuable resource for new Hiring Managers and experienced Interviewers. The Toolkit includes:

- A Behavioral-Based Interviewer Training Module
- Hundreds of Behavioral-Based Interview Questions Including:
  - Questions for all Five Job Families (e.g., Administrative/Clerical, Patient Care, Entry-Level Service, etc.)
  - Questions for the Nine Service & Values Scales (e.g., Compassion, Customer Focus, Teamwork, etc.)
  - Additional Behavioral Questions (e.g., Gossip, Quality, Attention to Detail, Retention, etc.)
- Peer/Panel Interview Guides for all Five Job Families
- Staff Assessment Feedback Report Interpretation

ONLINE TRAINING: A tutorial on how to understand and interpret the Staff Assessment Feedback Report is available. This training assists those unfamiliar with the assessment (and those who desire a refresher) on how to best utilize the Staff Assessment.
